

DiSCover Your Style

Our behavioral characteristics determine how we best provide and receive information. Everyone transmits and receives information differently, and different does not mean wrong. DiSC is a system for understanding and managing behavior and provides the ability to create a common language to interpret the message (s) being sent and received.

The DiSC profile will assist you to better understand your style, and those of your colleagues. The feedback you receive provides tools & tips to relate to, and work with, others who have similar and different styles.
